

The Theory of Resilient Commitment Preliminary Model

(Sibley, Vennum, & Hartenstein, 2023)

Propositions

1. Positive examples of commitment influence the meaning making process.
2. Negative examples of commitment influence the meaning making process.
3. An individual's resilience will influence the meaning making process.
 - 3a. An individual resilience is impacted by internal and external resources.
 - 3b. Internal and external resources of resilience are bi-directionally in that they influence one another.
4. The resilience and meaning making process of an individual influence the resilient outlook of commitment.
5. An individual's resilience will influence their resilient commitment.
6. Partner factors may play a role in resilient commitment, the extent is unknown at this point.
7. The resilient outlook of commitment influences the resilient commitment.